

SUPREME COURT INDORSES DANCING FOR PUBLIC HEALTH IN TENNESSEE DECISION

(Chattanooga News.)

Some day in the future Chattanooga will have a "building provided with rooms for a library, lecture halls, dancing halls, and such other rooms and appliances as may be necessary for the maintenance of good moral amusement of any kind or character."

"No preacher, or any religious denomination whatever, shall be permitted to deliver a doctrinal sermon in this building." Any other kind of a lecture, literary, scientific or moral, can be given in the new institution.

This is the plan of the Frye institute, requests for the establishment of which have just been declared legal by the supreme court of the state.

In the quaint legal phrases of the donor, William R. Frye, who died in Hamilton county, November 20, 1910, the institute is to be a "place for the social, intellectual and moral enjoyment of the citizens of Chattanooga, Tenn., and their families."

When the will was contested by certain of the heirs, the main stress of the objection was laid on this point:

"The object and purposes provided for are against public policy in that the will contemplates the maintenance of public dancing halls for all the working people of Chattanooga, without regard to the race, color or moral character of the beneficiaries, or participants in said amusements."

In its opinion the supreme court gave a vigorous indorsement of dancing as a means of maintaining public health. "It is good physical exercise, and tends to promote health and vigor," the court held, in refusing to set aside the will because a public dance hall was included in the Frye institute plans.

The decision of the supreme court on this point in part is as follows:

"If the dancing halls and other rooms for moral amusements contemplated by Mr. Frye were not connected with the library and lecture halls, we would doubtless follow the authorities relied on by complainants and hold that the trust attempted was invalid. The dancing and other amusements, however, were intended by the testator to be carried on in the same building and under the same roof with the library and lectures. These means of amusement are calculated to draw people into the institution and to make it popular with those whom the testator intended to benefit. The general effect of the institution to be founded will be educational by reason of the library to be therein contained and by reason of the lectures there to be delivered. If the dancing and amusements mentioned are calculated to bring the people of Chattanooga within the influence of the educational features of the institution, then we think such dancing and amusements are merely accessory and auxiliary to the main purpose of the trust and should not be held to vitiate such trust.

"Our churches have found it necessary to resort to various schemes of entertainment to attract people to houses of worship and to bring them within the good influence of the sanctuary. In the largest cities, at this time, dancing halls are maintained in connection with some of the church houses. They are thought to serve a useful purpose by these congregations.

"Suppose the ease of an endowed church whose trustees carried on a dancing room in connection therewith to make the church popular and to attract young people within its walls. While the propriety of such an appendage from an ecclesiastical standpoint might be debatable, viewing it from the bench the court would scarcely convict such trustees so expending their income of misapplication of the trust fund.

"Much less would the court be inclined to question such an expenditure by the trustees of a secular enterprise like the Frye institute.

"The contention of complainants then amounts to this: That we should strike down this charity because the testator conferred express authority on the trustees to include certain features in the institution contemplated, the inclusion of which we would doubtless have approved had there been nothing in the issue but words. This was granted.

"The dancing and amusements contemplated by Mr. Frye are calculated to draw people to the institute, which he desired to found. These things tend to the promotion of the dominant purpose of the trust. They are not separate and distinct matters; they are closely correlated to the main thought of the testator, and we do not think they destroy the charity.

"We don't promote immorality. It is insisted, however, by the complainants that such a dancing hall will tend to promote immorality, and that for this reason the bequest is void as

WOMAN MEMBER OF COMPENSATION BOARD

MRS. FRANCES AXTELL

Mrs. Frances Axtell of Bellingham Bay, Washington, has been named by the president for member of the workingmen's compensation board, and as a consequence the women suffragists in the national capital lionized her when she arrived. She earned her place by the hard work she did in the Washington legislature toward obtaining minimum wage legislation for women.

against public policy. We are referred by counsel to the public dancing halls operated for profit in the cities of the country, and our attention is called to reports of social workers showing that these places are great instrumentalities of evil.

"While dancing hall to be conducted in the Frye institute is for the benefit of the public, so is the library, and so is the lecture hall. The whole institution will be under the control of trustees. These trustees will no more allow immoral characters or immoral exhibitions in the dancing hall than they will allow immoral books to be placed on the shelves of the library or immoral lectures to be delivered in the auditoriums. Such course on the part of the trustees is unthinkable. If any such license were granted the trustees would be promptly brought to account by the attorney general and removed by the court.

"The argument that the dancing in the institution will be participated in by both races and that the institute will degenerate into a negro dancing hall is likewise without merit. The same argument might be made against any public charity. Our people have heretofore found means of controlling such situations, and it is likely they will continue to do so. No one is entitled to demand as of right the benefits of a charitable institution. Only the attorney general can question the conduct of such an institution by the trustees. The trustees of the Frye institute will, no doubt, take proper precautions to prevent an objectionable mingling of the races, and such action on their part can only be brought in question by the attorney general's suit.

"While we decide the case on the grounds stated above, it may not be amiss to observe that education is a broad term. It includes not only the training and development of the mind but the training and development of the body. One is hardly more important than the other.

"Dancing a Good Thing. It cannot be doubted that a proper form of dancing is good physical exercise, and tends to promote health and vigor. Certainly dancing promotes physical grace more than any other form of exercise. Requests for an art institution have been upheld as charitable. Likewise it has been intimated that a bequest for concerts to cultivate a taste for good music would be charitable.

"Music and art develop merely the esthetic tendencies of the mind. Is it not equally permissible to sustain as charitable an institution which had a tendency to develop bodily grace and poise.

"Will Help City. Many civic students think the time is near when the amusement and entertainment of the people in the crowded centers of population must be undertaken by the municipal governments. The courts now declare public parks and places for open air recreation to be proper agencies of city government. The operation of other places for the harmless entertainment of the people which will keep them away from vicious places of amusement might serve a useful governmental purpose. In this aspect, such an institution as that contemplated by Mr. Frye should be sustained as a governmental charity, were it not educational. It will tend to relieve the city of Chattanooga of a burden which the city, a large manufacturing center, may one day have to assume."

William R. Frye died in Hamilton county, November 20, 1910, leaving a large estate which he disposed of by will. He made several bequests and the balance of his property was left to three trustees, namely Francis Martin, John H. Cantrell and his widow, Mrs. Mary G. Frye. The trust estate was charged with an annuity of $1,800 per annum in favor of Mrs. Frye.

The object of the trust was "to erect in Chattanooga, Tenn., a building provided with rooms for a library, dancing hall, lecture halls and other rooms suitable for good moral amuse-

Look and Feel Clean, Sweet and Fresh Every Day

Drink a glass of real hot water before breakfast to wash out poisons.

Life is not merely to live, but to live well, eat well, digest well, work well, sleep well, look well. What a glorious condition to attain, and yet how very easy it is if one will only adopt the morning inside bath.

Folks who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when they arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the water and phosphate is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

Millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble, rheumatism; others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store which will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of internal sanitation.

COUNTY AGENTS' REPORTS

More Duroc-Jersey hogs are coming into Wakulla county. Some of the farmers are increasing the Satsuma orange acreage in that county also, says W. T. Green, county agent.

Many acres of velvet beans will be planted in Calhoun county this year. This is one of the best leguminous crops for Florida and will give the farmers who plant it a great increase in soil fertility, says J. E. Yon, county agent.

Jackson county farmers are hurrying along the matter of organization. Several organizations have been effected and more are forming. S. W. Liatt, county agent, is directing this work.

D. P. Coffin, county agent for Leon county, reports a general planting of peanuts in his county this year, the product to be sold to the oil mills. At present, five hundred acres are planted to this crop and two or three growers will buy machine pickers.

Silage is being fed to mules in some of the Florida counties, a practice which has been followed all winter. In all cases the mules have been kept in good condition.

The amount of business done by a milling company in Holmes county gives an idea of what the farmers are doing toward diversified farming. This mill, up to February 1, had bought 5,228 bushels of corn at an average price of 88 cents. They had bought 1,651 tons of velvet beans in a pod at an average price of $15.78 a ton. There are other money crops than cotton in Holmes county, says J. J. Sechest, county agent.

HARD AND SOFT OR ANY KIND OF CORN

Tells how to loosen a tender corn so it lifts out without pain.

You reckless men and women who are pestered with corns and who have at least once a week invited an awful death from lockjaw or blood poison are now told by a Cincinnati authority to use a drug called freezezone, which the moment a few drops are applied to any corn, the soreness is relieved and soon the entire corn, root and all, lifts out with the fingers.

It is a sticky substance which dries the moment it is applied and is said to simply shrivel the corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin. It is claimed that a quarter of an ounce will cost very little at any of the drug stores, but is sufficient to rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn or callus.

You are further warned that cutting at a corn is a suicidal habit.

The will further provided that said building, when completed, was "to be for the free use of the working men and women of Chattanooga, Tenn., and their families."

The bequest was contested by Filmore Gibson et al., heirs-at-law of Mr. Frye, and the opinion was rendered in this case. Martin & Trimble represented the testators and the case was argued some months ago before the court, sitting at Knoxville.

PEARLS IN A MISSOURI RIVER

The Find of Mrs. Edward Bell Was Valued at $11,900.

If you would like to marry, but must hesitate because of the high cost of living, consider this story of Mr.
and Mrs. Edward Bell.

About three years ago Mrs. Bertha Scott was married to Edward Bell, and the couple began housekeeping
on a small farm on the White river.

Mrs. Bell spent much time fishing.
One morning she raked a mussel from the river and broke it open. In it she found a pearl of moderate size.

Then Mrs. Bell went wading and gathered a bushel of mussels. From the bushel she got ten more pearls.

When she told Mr. Bell about her find he advised her to get as many as possible before taking them to a jeweler to see what they were worth.

They went pearl hunting together.
Mr. Bell's luck was poor, but his wife found forty-one more, some of them
the size of a pea and of beautiful luster.

"If you are offered $50 for the bunch, take it," was Mr. Bell's parting advice to his wife as she started for Newport, Ark., the nearest market.

The jeweler at Newport said he could not afford to buy them, but that the regular New York buyer would be in the next day. Mrs. Bell called on the buyer at the hotel. After testing and weighing them the buyer said:

"Twenty of them are little better than 'slugs' and are worth to me only $5 each. I will give you $11,900 for the entire collection."

Mrs. Bell exercised great self-control and escaped fainting. After an attempt or two to get her breath she announced indifferently that "she guessed he could have them."

To date Mrs. Bell has sold about $21,000 worth of the gems, taken from the river, and besides is having a necklace made for herself from many small ones.

So, if after paying the license clerk and the pastor the monthly check doesn't seem big enough to divide with the butcher, the grocer and the furniture maker, it may be worth while to consider that there are many mussels in the White river.—Kansas

HIS HOME IN A STATE OF WAR

No Peace for a Teuton Whose House Was Divided Against Himself.

A policeman found a man leaning weakly against a lamp post the other night. He was carrying a lopsided load of alcohol. Fearing he would overflow and freeze, the cop gave him a gentle nudge with his night stick.

"Get out of here and go home," he ordered.

"I can't," wept the man with a strong Teutonic flavor. "I wish I was dead. I come from Bavaria, my wife she is French, and her mother, who lives by us, is Swiss. My oldest girl got married to an Italian, and my other one to a Dane, and now since this country looks like it goes to war,
my three sons say they are Americans. What do I want to go home for—to get killed?"

The cop rubbed a thoughtful finger across his face.

"Well," he said, "it's agin regulations, but you got to go somewhere," and he eased him gently into the back entrance of a saloon and put him in a chair.

The wee-begone Teuton wept loudly
as the policeman went away.—New York Letter to the Pittsburg Dispatch.

HEAVY MEAT EATERS HAVE SLOW KIDNEYS

Eat less meat if you feel Backache or have bladder trouble
Take glass of Salts.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which excites the kidneys, they become over-worked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood, then we get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness
and urinary disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, stop eating meat and get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take 2 tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and in a few days your kidneys will act fine.
This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate the kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

ADVERTISE IN THE HERALD—IT PAYS

A Southerner Says It— It's True

He Speaks It—

Writes It—

and Thinks It—

It seems somehow that the love of truth is inborn—in every Southerner and it sticks right close to him for all his days—
just like a life-long friend.

That's why, friends, when I hear people praising me all over the South—saying
"SOVEREIGN is King of Them All"—well,
it is true—that's all.

For example, I heard one gentleman say the other day:—"Here is the finest cigarette I ever smoked. I never buy any other. The finest product of Virginia and Carolina tobacco, in all its mildness, and sweetness and mellowness."

Yes—It's great to be a SOVEREIGN. It's fine to have real breeding back of you, to be brought up in a fine, white, healthy home,—and to hear so many nice things from so many friends down South here among you all. And the reason is just this—it's because—

You Folks of the South KNOW good blood!
You Folks of the South KNOW good tobacco!

No doubt of it all. Good breeding does count. Quality does tell. So, let's you and me be the real friends that we ought to be. And, here is something more for you to think about—

I am guaranteed by The American Tobacco Co. —Buy me.
If you don't like me return me to your dealer and get your money back. I have said it. A Southern gentleman is known the world over for keeping his word, and I have given you mine.

WOMEN WANT TO HELP

Washington, Feb. 22.—A plan for a definite war service by the women of the United States will be outlined at a conference of the executive council of the National American Woman Suffrage Association here tomorrow.

It is the desire of the officials of the association, as expressed in the call for the conference, to have its two million women members become of assistance immediately to the nation, instead of postponing, as did the women in England, going to work in munition factories and other establishments until after the men had been called from the factories to the trenches.

According to a French scientist birthmarks in families not now of good social position indicate that they are of knightly descent, the marks being due to the fact that their possessors' ancestors wore armor.

Department of Agriculture Working To Eliminate the Waste In Marketing Perishable Food Products.

Copyright, 1917, by The International Syndicate.

WASTE is one of the main factors in maintaining the high cost of living. This is especially the case in the matter of perishables. The Department of Agriculture, in full realization of this condition, for some time past has been systematically studying the situation as it exists between producer and consumer with a view to eliminating the waste at every point.

Its specialists in every branch of food industry are studying the problem of help for the farmer in producing, preparing and marketing perishables so that they may reach the best available markets in the prime of quality and condition, at the least expenditure, thus cutting down the cost of poor production, inefficient preparation and an uncertain market.

The Office of Markets and Rural Organization is the bureau of the Department of Agriculture most actively interested in this mode of reduction of the high cost of living, and the concrete results of its efforts have resulted in the past year in cutting out hundreds of thousands of dollars in waste along the line from producer to consumer.

Will Aid Co-Operative Buying.

The co-operative principle is spreading and the Department of Agriculture believes that it will eventually eliminate some of the present additions placed upon prices while the food is moving from the farm to the city. The department is now formulating a system of accounts for country and the Office of Markets and Rural Organization advocates co-operative buying and marketing.

Its work in this line includes the study of problems connected with co-operative purchasing and marketing; and it stands ready at all times to give aid both in person and by correspondence to groups who wish to organize for such purposes, assisting in the reorganization of associations, the study of State laws on co-operation, and work on proposed laws to encourage co-operation. Concrete examples are on file in the Department of Agriculture in which a saving to growers of a single organization is estimated at not less than $25,000 for the first year.

The most important attempt to federate the farmers' marketing business ever undertaken in this country was prosecuted last year and resulted in the formation of a federation of the leading fruit shipping associations and individual shippers.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR SPARKLERS.

We believe in the anti-war sentiments of Rev. White, D.D., of Miami, in a recent fine sermon printed in the papers.

Something very beautiful seems "A Nation's Prayer," seen in The Kissimmee Valley Gazette," which was written by some one so modest in Daytona that it is just signed "R. H. E." Wonder if the Daytona Halifax Journal knows who this gifted writer is, if so it must be hard to keep it quiet.

Gainesville's Epworth League had a play which was successful and it remembered "the Golden Rule" by thanking those who had made the success possible, in "The Gainesville Sun," giving its worthy editors a portion of the thanks. This is an example Endeavorers might follow with good results for it always pays to be grateful for kindness shown, and say so.

Next Sunday both Young People's and Juniors have missionary topics, also the Intermediate societies which usually have the Y. P. S. C. E. kind. For older grown workers it is "The Home-Mission Boards of My Denomination; What They are and What They Do." The Juniors have "How to Get the World in Your Eye." Seems to us the latter subject is the real foundation for intelligent study of any kind of denominational mission work.

Now on the convention calendar weekly in "The Christian Endeavor World" until that, for us, interesting event is passed, will appear, "Florida State Convention, in Orlando, April 19-22." Are you getting ready to be there?

Something of splendid news variety is the West Palm Beach has now a City Union, comprising within its C. E. fellowship, three churches, Christian, Congregational and Episcopal, the latter only one of its kind in Florida. There are two other (white) City Unions, those of Tampa and Jacksonville.

A new Y. P. directory just received in our department office from the state-secretary, Miss Ruth Coffin, shows several new societies. It now takes three sheets on which to make this list, and it used to take but two.

In "The Congregational News," printed in Atlanta for southern people of its denomination is a sparkling paragraph concerning the New Smyrna C. E. work, both societies for grown-up and children Endeavorers having been organized during the last few months. This shows what a wide-awake pastor and wife can accomplish if they will, for New Smyrna was long considered a difficult place to get young people enthusiastic. There are more just such towns and such churches, scattered all over Florida, waiting for "somebody to go ahead and start things."

SPORTING NOTES

The Cincinnati Reds have Hal Chase's signature to a two-year contract covering the season of 1917-18. New York walkers have fixed upon Washington's Birthday for their sixth annual handicap hike from city hall to Coney Island.

Mickey King, the latest Australian boxer to invade America, is former middleweight champion of the Antipodes. He lost his title to Les Darby, Oarsmen of both Harvard and Yale have reported for practice. The candidates are divided into crews and drilled on the rowing machines.

John T. Barry, Washington's top pitcher, is three years under age, so his father had to sign the Washington contract for him.

President Weeghman of the Chicago Cubs denies the statement credited to him that the Cubs would give Pitcher Alexander of the Phillies a salary of $15,000 a year.

Art Magill, who won the Australian welterweight championship from Fred Kay, has returned to this country and is anxious to meet any of America's leading welterweight battlers.

The fine work of Fred Fulton in his recent New York bouts has won such favor with the Gotham fans that they are now touting him strongly as the next heavyweight champion.

The Minneapolis Millers have passed up Hickman, Ky., as a training camp. Parsons, Kas., will be the scene of their practice work this spring.

Sam Langford, who now makes his home in Chicago, is tutoring Ever Hammer in the fine points of the mitt game. The "Tar Baby" believes that Hammer will yet shine as a star in the lightweight firmament.

The new golf rule relating to amateurs doesn't seem to have affected the shon pure status of Walter J. Travis. Although Travis is a good architect he still golfs in the amateur ranks.

Among the ten youngsters to be tried out by the New York Yankees this spring are Bob McGaw, the crack pitcher of the Colorado university team, and "Chick" Knapp, a likely looking second baseman from the Shreveport Texas league team.

Not much chance for Johnny Evers to change his berth from the National to the American league. At least three National league clubs—Chicago, Philadelphia and Cincinnati—will refuse to waive on the Boston second sacker.

New England golf enthusiasts believe that Fred Wright, the junior Massachusetts champion, is likely to prove as big a sensation on the links as did Francis Ouimet a few years ago.

Of the thirteen presidents who have held office in the United States Golf Association, eleven have been eastern men. The only representatives of western clubs who have served at the head of the national golf organization are Frank L. Woodward of Denver and Silas Straw of Chicago.

SOME READABLE DON'TS

Don't argue with the inevitable. The only argument available with an east wind is to put on your overcoat. Don't preach too much. None preaches better than the ant, and she says nothing.

Don't waste your feelings. Feelings are too rich cream to be skimmed for nothing.

Don't be too patient. "Once in a while," said Uncle Eben, "a man compliments himself on having patience when he's simply too lazy to make a kick."

Don't pack up worries. You can get them anywhere as you go along. Don't let your stream of life be a murmuring stream.

Don't use a pile driver to pin on a bow of ribbon. Don't measure success by accumulation, for this measure is false.

Don't talk over "prevailing conditions." Just make friends with your luck.

DIXIE HIGHWAY TRACT

To those residing permanently in Miami and to tourists here for the season

J. A. Gates & Son, have a message.

We have formulated a plan whereby we can greatly reduce the price of real estate to purchasers, cause the business of real estate to be more highly respected, and to be more enjoyable and satisfactory to those engaged in the traffic.

We purpose to sell lots in a tract by employing hired salesmen just as a merchant sells goods in his store by clerks in his employ. Parties visiting our Dixie Highway Tract, now being offered, will be shown over the tract by our salesmen. A tag bearing the lot and block number and price of lot is attached to a stake placed in front of each lot, to be detached by purchaser and presented at office of tract owner, where papers in settlement will be drawn.

We can, we believe, by this method save purchaser 25 per cent or more and complete the transaction most expeditiously and satisfactorily.

We especially call attention to location of our Dixie Highway Tract. It adjoins the Charles Deering place on the north and extends from Dixie Highway to Bay View Ave., overlooking the Bay. All inside lots are held at a uniform price of $195 each, corners $300. If in this connection you note the fact that lots in Flander's tract which adjoins the Charles Deering place on the south are held at prices ranging from about $3,000 to $5,000, and are on lower land; you will readily see that lots in Dixie Highway will certainly appreciate rapidly in value with the growth of Miami and that you will make no mistake in buying now. Is it unreasonable to expect an advance of one hundred per cent in values within one year. May we not urge those of our home people thinking to secure a lot while cheap in price and most attractively located to select now. May we not urge tourists seeking a place for building a winter home to visit us; and may we not especially urge builders who want to get a bunch of lots on which to build houses to sell or rent to select now while the selecting is good—the bunches are unbroken. Dixie Highway Tract has many advantages, such as electric lights, telephones, jitney buses about half hourly, ice, meat, groceries delivered daily, daily mail delivery, high school, churches, literary clubs, fraternities, and other advantages of a happy and cultured community.

ADVERTISE IN THE HERALD

Good Results of Its Efforts In the Past Year— Department Advocates Co-operative Buying.

planned production and careful preparation of perishable farm products might be of great importance as factors in successful marketing, their value is dependent entirely on the choice of an advantageous market. Excellence of condition will not sell produce in a market in which there is no demand for it.

If a farmer ships in a haphazard way to any market point that happens to strike his fancy or happens to suit his convenience, he may find from losses, when it is too late, that the point chosen was already fully supplied with commodities like his own, or that for other reasons there is none but an unprofitable sale for his wares. Instead of being a matter to be guessed at, the finding of a profitable market is the central and dominant problem in all distribution.

To help this situation the market specialists of the Department of Agriculture last year inaugurated a general daily market news service covering practically all perishable products.

The aim of this market news service is to furnish information in regard to as many of the factors affecting marketing as practicable to all persons and all organizations interested in the perishable products reported.

Distributed Through Field Staff.

One of the most important features in the operation of this news service is the assistance rendered by division superintendents of railroads, who telegraph to Washington information in regard to the shipments of perishables originating on their divisions and covered by the news service.

Reports on earliest shipments of perishables begin arriving at the Washington headquarters of the news service shortly after 7 o'clock each morning. A group of clerks decodes the messages and compiles the data they contain. This work is completed by 9 o'clock, and the information is sent out immediately by the office operators to groups of market and field agents connected on telegraphic circuits.

As soon as the shipping information has been sent out messages begin arriving in the Office of Markets and Rural Organization giving the morning quotations and other information from the 31 markets covered by the news service. These messages are decoded and the information contained in them is tabulated and sent out early in the afternoon to the market correspondents and the representatives of the office in the producing sections, as well as telegraphed to interested individuals and associations.

of Washington, Oregon, Idaho and Montana. Members of this federation handled approximately 75 per cent of the fruit products of a section that represents an investment of fully $150,000,000.

The Apple Industry.

There are 2,500 co-operative creameries in this country, and a uniform system of accounts for country creameries is now practically in final form to be recommended to these organizations generally for adoption. The system is in operation in five creameries and will be published very soon by the Department, so that all who wish may obtain the printed form.

A survey of the northwestern apple industry has recently been conducted by the Department of Agriculture, extensive field investigations being made in the States of Washington, Oregon, Idaho and Montana, with a view to securing as comprehensive information as possible concerning the entire northwestern fruit industry.

Data were secured from growers' associations, shipping organizations, and railroad officials, and the information thus secured has been prepared, and charts and graphs have been made; so that a vast deal of money-saving information has been made available to the growers and buyers of apples.

In connection with the investigation of the handling of apples, special study has been given to the picking, handling and packing of eastern barrel apples and to the practicability of community packing houses, their arrangement, equipment and sizing machines.

To disseminate information concerning the supply of apples in cold storage the Department of Agriculture has a mailing list of 7,000 names, consisting of apple growers, cold storage firms, transportation officials and commission merchants to whom reports of cold storage holdings of apples throughout the country are sent each month so that the supply and demand may be accurately dealt with, and prices gauged accordingly.

Aim At Standardization.

Standard weights and measures bear a definite relation to the elimination of waste in selling and buying perishable farm produce, and the Department of Agriculture is accomplishing effective work in this direction, aimed chiefly toward improvement in methods of handling perishable products from the field to the market and toward standardization of grades and packages for such products.

The collection and study of packages and containers now in use in the marketing of fruits and vegetables is being carried on by the Department of Agriculture, the study including the specifications and capacity and information regarding the making, material and desirability of each. Boxes, barrels, crates, baskets, hampers and lug boxes are among the kinds of containers collected and studied.

As a result of agitation along this line, Rhode Island has recently established a standard bushel box for the marketing of truck crops. A bushel sweet potato crate has been adopted by Arkansas shippers. Congress has established the 2, 4 and 12 quart size as standards for the shipment of grapes and other fruits and vegetables in baskets, and also the dry measure—one-half pint, quart and multiples of dry quart—as standards for baskets or other containers for small fruits, berries and vegetables.

For Inspection of Fruit-Packing at a Fruit Growers' Cooperative Plant.

Maryland recently enacted an apple grading and packing law; and Virginia and Pennsylvania are considering similar laws. In all of these instances the Department of Agriculture has rendered assistance or furnished advice as requested.

Loss in Foodstuffs In Transit. Extensive and thorough investigations are being made concerning the methods of harvesting, handling, grading, packing, inspecting and loading strawberries, peaches, tomatoes, and boxed and barreled apples, Irish potatoes and Texas and Bermuda onions, with a view to advising growers concerning the best methods of preparing these products for market, and to make possible the preparation and issue of bulletins on the commercial grading and packing of several crops.

The economic loss of foodstuffs in transit is increasing constantly, therefore adding to the high cost of living.

Much of this loss is due to defective methods of harvesting, packing and loading, and to the use of insecure and improperly constructed containers. Some of it is caused by inefficient refrigeration in transit and other faults of the present system of transportation. Much of this waste can and should be eliminated and the Department of Agriculture is making investigations and issuing information to that end.

Within the past year the appointment of a specialist in storage has been made by the Department of Agriculture and the work of disseminating information in regard to butter, eggs, cheese and other dairy products has been started so that producers and purchasers may have regular and accurate information in regard to the cold storage holdings of these products as possible.
